

CNN LIVE TODAY, CNN

June 2, 2004

DARYN KAGAN, CNN ANCHOR

KAGAN: Human cloning and stem cell research tops the agenda of a landmark meeting of scientists and U.N. delegates today. Members of the Genetics Policy Institute are discussing ethical and medical issues surrounding therapeutic cloning, as the United Nations considers a blanket ban on all form of cloning research. The U.N. is expected to take up the issue in October.

In our "Daily Dose" of health news, true or false? Medical correspondent Holly Firfer separates fact from fiction as we examine some common health care mistakes.