Hadassah receives advocacy award

Hadassah is being recognized for its advocacy of stem cell research.

The Women's Zionist Organization of America will receive the 2006 National Advocacy Award from the Genetics Policy Institute during the group's annual summit June 9-11 at Stanford University. Hadassah works actively for federal and state legislation and funding to support stem cell research.

In the spring of 2005, Hadassah delegations visited legislators in all 50 state capitals as part of SOS: State of Stem Cell, a national advocacy effort.
